

COMPLEXION
OF THE SENATENearly Complete Returns Show that Republicans Will Have Twelve,
With no Choice in 5 Districts

As the returns for senators continue to come in, the probabilities appear strong that the republicans may have elected twelve senators by the people. With complete or nearly complete returns, it appears that republicans have been chosen in districts 2, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 20, 21, and probably chosen in 5 and 9. It appears equally certain that the democrats elected in districts 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 10, 11, and 23, while in districts 1, 7, 19, 22 and 24, there appears to be no one having a majority because of third term candidates in the field.

With only ward 2, Bertha, missing, the returns received for district 1, give Bartlett, r, 1762; Hutchins, d, 2003; and Sloughton, pro, 570.

In district 2, with three towns missing including Littleton, Weaver, r, has 1288 and Gates, d, 1672, the latter having a lead likely to be overcome.

With Lebanon not included, the third district gives Wallace, r, 1350, and Shepard, d, 1206.

In the fourth, with two small towns not reported, Thynz, r, has 1496, and Deal, d, 1668, the latter's lead not likely to be overcome.

Not including four towns, some of which are large, in the fifth, Robert-son, r, has 1105, and Gerry, 1176, but the usual majority in the towns not reported would clearly choose the former by the people.

Total complete vote in district 6 gives Shannon, r, 1550, and Sawyer, r, 2264.

District 7 becomes a no choice town for with the small town of Larydon unreported, Carr, r, has 1197, Edes, d, 1301 and Feleh, pro, 177.

With two small towns not included, district 8 gives Craig, r, 1192, and Prentiss, d, 1306.

One small town in district 9 out, the vote stands 1855 for Emerson, r, and 1811 for Barnard, d. The missing town gave a democratic plurality of 8 two years ago.

The complete vote in district 10 gives Cummings, r, 1266 and Blackwood, d, 1304.

The complete vote in district 11 gives Weeks, r, 1642 and Rogers, d, 1986.

The complete vote in district 12 gives 1797 for Haines, r, and 1739 for Small, d. Huntress, r, leads Green, d, in the complete vote of the thirteenth, 1128 over 1035.

The complete vote in the 14th is Emerson, r, 1186, and Duncan, d, 966.

In the 15th Walbridge, r, has in the complete vote 1162 and Telford, d, 1087.

The Manchester districts, 16, 17, 18, elected Clough, Chalmers and Joyal, all republican nominees although Joyal has always been a democrat and entered the recent democratic primaries where he was defeated.

In the 19th district, Boyd, r, has on the complete vote 1429; Farnsworth, d, 1212, but Gregory, pro, defeats a choice with his 493 votes.

With two large Nashua wards not included, Gaffney, r, in the 20th, has 1026 against Lucier, d, with 716. In the 21st, Scammon, r, has 1888 in the complete vote and Ingalls, 872; Lane,

ROYAL GEORGE
ON THE ROCKSCanadian Mail Steamer With
910 Passengers in Serious Plight.

Quebec, Nov. 6.—The Canadian Northern royal mail steamer Royal George, with 910 passengers on board grounded on the rocks during a fog in the St. Lawrence river early tonight and is reported to be in a serious plight.

Going Full Speed

The vessel went aground about one mile east of Point St. Laurent, Island off Orleans, 10 miles below Quebec. The wrecking steamer Lord Strathcona and two tugs have been sent to the Royal George's aid. The rocks on which the steamer struck lie on the north side of the South channel.

The Royal George left Grosse Ilele quarantine station for Quebec shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. She was said to be going at full speed at the time she met with the accident. She was on her way from Avonmouth, Eng., and was due in Montreal tomorrow.

The grounded steamer is in a position difficult of access and news of developments is slow in reaching shore.

PORTSMOUTH THEATRE
TONIGHT

Two Big Feature Acts.

Patrons of the Portsmouth Theatre will have the pleasure of witnessing an entirely different bill this evening. The feature is Robert Hilliard's piece entitled "The Littlest Girl." This act has been a headliner on the Keith circuit and it is one of the most expensive ever presented in this city. Another double act that will long be remembered is Burbank and Danforth, refined instrumentalists. This act is making a hit everywhere. If you think it is necessary to go to Boston to see real vaudeville you are mistaken. Watch for some of the biggest and best.

THE VOTE OF
THIS STATEReturns Indicate that Republicans
Have a Majority in the Legislature

Concord, Nov. 6.—A survey of the returns from practically every town and ward in New Hampshire indicate that Wilson and Marshall carried the state with a plurality of slightly over 1700, their vote being 84,546, Taft and Sherman's 33,105 and Roosevelt and Johnson's 17,872. In the election of four years ago the presidential vote was: Taft, 53,149; Bryan, 32,655.

Samuel D. Felker, democratic candidate for governor, received 32,963; Franklin Worcester, republican, 32,900, and Winston Churchill, third term, 14,230. The law requiring a majority vote for governor, there was no election to this office by the people, although Felker led by about 760, Felker's vote was nearly twice as great as that given Churchill, which occasioned considerable surprise to the latter's followers who had been claiming all along that his vote would keep well up with that of Colonel Roosevelt.

New Hampshire will be represented at Washington by democratic congressmen, in the first district, former Mayor Eugene E. Reed of Manchester, and in the second district, Raymond B. Stevens of Landaff. Returns from 112 towns and wards out of 124 in the first district give Sulloway 15,393, Reed 16,512 and Titus 3866. Sulloway, the republican candidate, has been a member of the national house for eighteen years and he was led by Reed, the democratic candidate, by 1319. The vote of S. O. Titus of Rollinsford, the third term candidate, was enough to give the election over to the democrats. In 1910, the first district gave Sulloway 18,908 and Reed 17,664. A slight falling off in the vote of the district is indicated by the returns.

In the second congressional district, Stevens ran on both the democratic and third term tickets. His combined vote was 19,559, while Frank D. Currier of Canaan, republican, received 16,182, the plurality for the former being 3477. Stevens' lead was about three times as great as that given Reed, although the total vote of the district was a great deal smaller. In 1910 the second district gave Currier 19,590 and Metcalf 15,422, and the vote of this year was about 800 greater than in that year.

The senatorial situation is more complicated. It appears that the republicans have elected twelve, the democrats seven and the other districts are in doubt.

The complexion of the house of representatives is shrouded in doubt. Both republicans and democrats claim a majority, although the returns so far received would seem to favor the republicans. The makeup of the legislature in the coming session is of great importance, owing to the fact that it is to decide the gubernatorial question and choose a United States senator, among other important things.

A GLOBE-WERNICKE BOOKCASE FOR THAT CLEVER WIFE.

There is a picture in our show window, Mr. Business Man, that should appeal to you—that is, if you love a home and children.

It portrays a little human interest story that is without a title—and we are so anxious to get a fitting title that we propose to give away the Globe-Wernicke Bookcase to the one who makes the cleverest suggestion.

Drop in and get a ballot, draw a check on your imagination, and deposit it in our Ballot Box.

No matter what the result of the National Election may be, your wife will congratulate you, if you succeed in drawing this beautiful gift.

The contest is open to everybody. You need not be a customer to get a ballot.

It closes November 15, and all answers must be in the hands of the Answer Editor not later than that date.

Only one answer from each contestant will be considered, so send in only your best.

IS AT THE HEAD

Miss Louise Pryor Is Dean at Nasson Institute, Spring-vale, Me.

Miss Louisa I. Pryor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Pryor of this city has been appointed Dean of the Nasson Institute at Springvale, Me.

After graduating from the Portsmouth High School she attended the Salem Normal School and also graduated from that institution in the class of 1904 this was followed by several years of teaching in the grammar grades of the Melrose, Mass schools and Portsmouth public schools. After a special course in household economics at Simmons college she was head of the department of household economics at Keene, N. H., Normal School.

Miss Pryor has done institute work for the state and county conventions of Maine and New Hampshire. The institute was made possible in Springvale through the generosity of George Nasson, a late resident of Springvale.

The money became available a few years ago and a fine new building is being erected which will be dedicated in December. The equipment is modern and practical. The school has started on its first year with a representation from 18 towns and cities of Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

The school has great possibilities of growth because it offers a technical training at reasonable expense. It also is the first school of its kind in the state. It includes in its courses not only the vocational subjects, but also the cultural training necessary to the highest degree of efficiency and aims to meet the growing demand for trained secretaries and for teachers of household economics.

THROWN FROM AUTOMOBILE.

Delhi Spinney, formerly of this city, and Albert Burleigh, both of Epping, were thrown out of Mr. Spinney's automobile, late Tuesday afternoon, while riding from the Spinney farm to the polls at Epping. Mr. Spinney escaped injury but Mr. Burleigh was bruised upon the head and body.

City workmen were engaged, in making repairs to the asphalt paving on Pleasant street and Market Square today. Better late than never.

U. S. S. Washington Eleven
Was Outplayed at All Times.

New Hampshire College defeated the U. S. S. Washington team Wednesday afternoon by the score of 6 to 0. The game was hotly contested throughout and although outweighed fifteen pounds to a man New Hampshire played the Washington team to a standstill.

New Hampshire scored her only touchdown early in the first period by a series of forward passes and line bucking plays. Washington resorted to old-fashioned football almost entirely. They used the forward pass only three times and twice it was a failure. New Hampshire used the forward pass successfully and gained, much ground. Washington used the inside kick twice for good gains.

The feature of the game was a forty-yard run by Brackett, who dodged the entire Washington team and was only prevented a touchdown by slipping. The lineup:

WILSON CARRIED THIRTY-NINE STATES

Has An Electoral Vote of 415--Both Branches of Congress Democratic.

The practically complete returns from the election of Tuesday increase the great lead of Gov Wilson and the revised figures late last night indicate that he has swept the country as no other candidate has ever done. He has carried 39 states with an electoral vote of 415. Roosevelt carried six states with 104 electoral votes and President Taft carried but three states with an electoral vote of 12.

While the popular vote has not been completed, as yet returns indicate that the democrat candidate received over a million votes more than his nearest opponents.

The democrats are assured of a big working majority in the house and senate so that they will have an absolute free run to carry out their platform pledges.

The surprise of the election were to numerous to mention. The vote indicated that with an united party, the republicans would have retained the control of the country.

What is to become of the third party is the question which is uppermost in the minds of the politicians. The leaders all claim that it is here to stay.

President elect Wilson did not show any great elation over his victory but rather an added sense of responsibility he said, "I feel no sense of elation over my election to the Presidency of the United States; rather I am saddened by the great responsibilities that have been placed upon me."

President Taft who is at his brothers home in Cincinnati was up early and devoted the day to golf. He accepted the result with his usual good humor and to a friend said "We've got to find some comfort in this," the President is reported to have said, "I'll be very glad to ride Wilson. It wouldn't have been so easy if things had been different, but I would have taken the ride just the same."

Col. Roosevelt said that like all good citizens he would abide by the results.

DOWN SALMON RIVER RAPIDS

Caroline Lockhart, Who Made the Hazardous Trip With Three Men, Describes Her Experience.

The wildest bonride in America is said to be through the rapids of the Salmon river in the state of Idaho. A mining company recently constructed a stout barge to convey machinery to a camp 150 miles downstream. This heavy craft was manned by three men, two for the steering sweeps and one to ball. Half a mile above the first rapids we stopped to readjust the cargo and get out our life preservers; and when Guleke, the huge pilot said "Throw off the lines!" I noticed a steady shine in his level gray eyes. Into the eyes of Preece, who faced me at the sweep, there came a reckless glitter—a signal of danger ahead.

There was something ominous in the very stillness with which we glided from the quiet water into the channel. The big pilot crouching over his sweep made me think of a cougar waiting to grapple with an

GROWS BEAUTIFUL, HEAVY HAIR WE PROVE IT--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Destroys Dandruff--Stops Falling Hair--Clean and Invigorates Your Scalp

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, and brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing, your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, and incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself now, that your hair is as pretty, and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair, and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

enemy and for a space we crept forward with something of a cougar's stealth.

Then the current caught us like some live thing. The rocks and bushes at the waters edge began to fly by and I heard a sound like the rumble of thunder. I stood up and stretched my neck to see ahead and my heart missed four beats. As far as I could see there was a stretch of spray and foam, short intervals of wild racing water, then more spray and foam where it churned itself to whiteness against a mass of rocks. And from it all came a steady boom! boom!

We were racing toward it now as if drawn by the invisible force of some great suction pump. For an instant the boat poised with half her length in mid air before she dropped into a curve of water that was like the hollow of a great green shell. The roar was deafening. When the sheet of water that drenched us broke over the boat it shut out the sun. The barge came up like a water streaming from the platform and swelching through the machinery in the bottom. Guleke was there at the sweep throwing his great weight upon it, first this way and then that. A false move, a stroke of the sweep, too much or too little, and our craft would crash and splinter on a rock like a flimsy strawberry box.

The scenery had been growing wilder, the mountains higher, now rising straight from the water's edge to sawtooth peaks against the sky. The boat began to rush on with fresh impetus.

"Hang on!" advised the baller whose eyes seemed mostly whites. We slid into the air the front end of the boat seemed to drop straight down, and the stern rose. Foam hissing like carbonated water shut out the light. When we came up gasping I looked behind us it was a waterfall, with a drop of seven feet!

A turn was just ahead where the water gave a sudden rush and piled up between two great rocks. I lost my faith in my life preserver; we were all going to drown then and there. I knew it! I looked at the pilot. The wind blew his hair straight back, and the joy of battle was gleaming in his eyes. Fearlessness is contagious and a spirit of reckless indifference filled me as we took the final rush. It lasted only a second or two but the sensations of many years were crowded into that tense moment when the boat shot down that coboggan slide of water, grazed the rocks on the left and cut the hole on the right so close that half the stern hung over it and the baller stared into its dark depths with bulging eyes.

Finally the barge ceased to leap, the booming white water grew fainter, and ahead of us lay a stretch of peace. Guleke straightened himself and there was satisfaction in his quiet voice as he said:

"Well, well. I declare they didn't get us that time!"—Outing Magazine.

BOWLING

GENERAL STORE 2; PUBLIC WORKS, 2.

In the Navy Yard League series at the Arcade Alleys Wednesday evening, The General Store and Public Works split even, each team winning two points. Store won the first string and the total, while Public Works won the second and third strings. The match was by far the fastest of the season, and the pins not only fell in good shape, but the striker and spares kept the gallery on their nerves all the evening. The summary:

General Store.	65	87	72	223

Standing of the Teams.
Accounting.	8 0 1.
General Store,	6 2 4.
Hull,	3 5 5.
Public Works.	2 6 4.
Machinery.	1 7 4.

Notes of the Match.

The match was the best rolled of the league series, and there was something doing all the way.

Public Works certainly are there with the "come-back," and they are proving one of the dangerous teams of the league.

The match results in leaving the Accounting team in the lead, at least until next Tuesday night, when they roll Hull Division.

Kirvin made two strikes in succession in the first string, and the bleachers went wild.

The entire Accounting team witnessed the match, and took a few notes, which they will use when they meet the General Store.

Kirvin rolled 272, and was high man.

Next match:—Accounting vs. Hull, Tuesday.

THE BULL MOOSE SECOND IN MAINE

PORTLAND, Me. Nov 6—Maine, for the first time in its history, will send six Democratic delegates to the National electoral college, according to revised, nearly complete returns from yesterday's election, in which Gov Woodrow Wilson carried the State. Presidential electors only were voted upon by the citizens.

Returns from all except 60 election precincts gave a Democratic majority of 2362 over the Progressives who finished second highest. The missing places cast less than 1400 votes in the last Presidential election.

The Presidential vote:

Wilson, Dem 50,464
Roosevelt, Prog 48,102
Taft, Rep 26,196

In 1908 President Taft received 66,559 votes to W. J. Bryan's vote of 35,403. Gov Wilson had a plurality in the cities of 4500, carrying 16 cities. The total vote yesterday was the largest cast for more than 40 years, excepting in 1880, the figures reaching 126,000.

J. BODEWALT LAMPE.

The well known composer and manager of Jerome H. Remick's Arrangements Department has just written a new military march entitled "THE HERO OF THE ISTHMIUS," which he dedicated to Col George W. Goethals, U. S. A., the man who built the Panama canal. Mr. Lampe has for years been a great admirer of this world renowned engineer, and the dedication is a tribute to a chief in engineering from the man who in his stands highest in music. The march is really a masterpiece and will at all the theatres and swell affairs this winter. Jerome H. Remick & Co., the publishers, predict a big sale for it.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE LEGISLATURE IN DOUBT

Both Parties Claim Slight Majority-- Will Take Official Returns to Decide--County Ticket Elected By Fine Majority.

It will require the official returns to settle the question of whether the republicans or the democrats will control the next legislature, for late last night both parties claimed the majority in a joint ballot, and the Concord Monitor which has compiled the returns from all over the state claim the legislature for the republicans by seven with fifteen in doubt. The democratic chairman claims that the greater number of the doubtful towns will elect democrat representatives so that they will have a majority. The republican chairman late last night was almost willing to concede them the legislature by a very narrow margin. All claims made up to the present time are on the unofficial returns and they are considered to be as a rule accurate, but they may develop errors which would change the results in some places. The state senate seems to be evenly divided with ten republicans and ten democrats and with four seats, no election by the people. These are the 1, 7, 19 and 24, and in all cases the republicans have the plurality. In this district Col John Pender has a clear plurality over his nearest opponent of over 200 and in all probability he will be seated as it would be grossly unfair to do otherwise. How the senate will organize with the vote evenly divided or how they will decide the question of the four no choice districts is already a question. If they stick to politics then there will be a deadlock, unless they are elected on a joint ballot.

Of the five members of the governor's council, there is no choice in three of the districts and in the other two there was a doubt late last evening. The nominations however are that Mayor D. W. Rader of this city will be elected in this district. The district in which there is no choice will be settled by a joint vote of the legislature.

The Presidential electors will go to Wilson as with five wards and towns missing out of the 200 the vote stood Wilson 33,334, Taft 31,816 Roosevelt 17,119.

The vote for governor was on the same lines with Folger democrat leading Worcester republican, and Church-hill progressive had 14,000 which made it no choice and the election of governor goes to the legislature.

The republicans carried Rockingham county and all of the county officials were re-elected by from 1000 to 1500 majority. The town of Exeter gave the county ticket a fine majority of 350 and this combined with what was received in this city, was sufficient to hold the county republican although a great many of the towns went democratic. Norman H. Beane of this city led his ticket with nearly 1500 majority and he had a lead over the other members of the ticket of over three hundred. Two years ago the county ticket had a majority of about 2000, so that considering the land slide for the democrats they polled a handsome vote.

In this city the republicans have good cause to be satisfied. In the face of the great democratic wave, and with the opposition of the Roosevelt party, they made a gain of one representative and they elected seven out of nine representatives. To be sure the head of the ticket went to Wilson but the republicans carried it for Worcester. Congressman Sullaway's defeat was no surprise as it was freely predicted before election. The vote of the Roosevelt party was much larger than estimated as it was predicted that they would not poll more than three hundred, whereas they rolled up 570 for the head of the ticket and 515 for Sperry Locke, which was more than sufficient to make Mr. Pender's election by the people impossible. The result showed all through the

Koji Yamada, Japanese Expert, Will Make Strong Bid For World's Billiard Title

New York, Nov. 6.—Koji Yamada, the Japanese expert who is entered in the 182 balk line championship tournament which will begin on Nov. 11 is now practicing hard for the event. Mr. Yamada is the only foreigner in the tournament and also probably the youngest of the eight entries. He is only twenty four years old and has been playing billiards five years but his performances have been excellent, and good judges who have seen him in action think that Nipponese crack stands as good a chance as anybody of winning first prize. The Jap learned the balk line game in Germany. He played against Adorjan, Kerkau, Poensgen, and Cas-signal in Berlin and made an average of 25 for 2,000 points at 182. He says his best run was about 240. My father, said Yamada recently, has a billiard room and restaurant in Tokyo, and I learned the game there but on small tables, with big balls, and four balls on the table. They don't play the three game there, although a good deal of billiards is played in Japan. I've been playing for five years, balk line for about two years only, not taking up balk line until going to Berlin. Yamada will not only be the youngest but the foreignest player in the tourney. He is only five feet two and one half inches.

"FOR PORTSMOUTH AND PORTSMOUTH'S INTERESTS."

Portsmouth, N. H., Thursday, November 7, 1912.

Theodore Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt split a party that he might have saved. He attempted to thwart the triumph of another party that deserved success. He distracted a nation that was prepared to pass emphatic judgment upon notorious wrongs. He gave up a position in which he was generally honored to become the leader of a faction. He passes from a retirement of peace to a career of turbulence. And to no purpose.

If it is any satisfaction to him to know that he has done what no other man could have done he is welcome to the reflection. Men who have been President of the United States are never stripped of all their powers; no matter how complete their retirement may be. He has done amazing things politically not because he is Theodore Roosevelt but because he is a former President of the United States who has flouted tradition and made himself the idol and the hope of the revolutionary.

Mr. Roosevelt might easily have saved his party at Chicago in June by subordinating himself. He chose to wreck the organization. He preferred the applause of the day to the veneration of the centuries. He did not even cloak his revenge and ambitions with a mighty cause, as Martin Van Buren did in 1848. That Ex-President stood ostensibly for free soil. Mr. Roosevelt stands openly for legalized monopoly.

Perhaps the republican party deserved disruption and death, but not at the hands of Theodore Roosevelt. Sentence should have been passed upon it solely by a triumphant democracy. By all the rules of politics and war it had forfeited its estate not to a faction of its own but to its historic antagonist. Its fate, instead of pointing the moral that should always follow the betrayal of a people, will now adorn the records of political perfidy and personal vengeance.—New York World.

The Progressive Sweep.

We have with us this morning, as revealed by the election returns, a legally organized and militant progressive party, one that has made itself felt from the Atlantic to the Pacific and whose existence presents political problems to be approached and solved with care. If the new party was built upon the rock of one idea, the solution of the problem would be less difficult than it is with a party built upon a large group of issues of vital interest to the Nation.

The republican party has been defeated and its cohorts are shattered, but it has not been driven off the political map because its assets are yet very large in the shape of United States Senators, Governors of various States, Representatives in Congress, and above all the great name which that party has had for more than half a century. It has not been destroyed, but it has been stingingly rebuked by the people at the polls because at Chicago it did not heed the warning voiced by the Springfield primaries in so many States.

The election shows that public opinion as voiced in primaries cannot be safely defied.

Three parties are not needed in this country and it cannot be expected that they will permanently exist. There must be a further readjustment and the republican party either must yield to the tenets of the progressives, or give up the ghost. The returns in former rock-ribbed republican States admit of no other interpretation than a drastic readjustment, with new leaders and new ideas.—Boston Globe.

The Lawrence Tribune makes the suggestion that the law relative to lights should be enforced in connection with horse drawn vehicles as well as automobiles. The traffic officer that failed to hold up an automobilist who drove about after dark without lights would be considered a candidate for a reprimand on the ground of neglect of duty. Yet wagon after wagon goes through the streets every evening without lights and the average officer never gives even a look at them, let alone calling the driver to account.

The law on this point, however, makes no exceptions. "Vehicles" must have lights. It is very evident that public safety is more involved in the case of automobiles. It is absolutely necessary that there be means of identifying automobiles by night. This reminds us, by the way, that many of the rear number plates are not illuminated so that they could be read plainly at 60 feet. In fact many are hardly in evidence at ten feet. This also is not in accord with law.

To return to the point at issue, however, the safety of all concerned requires that all vehicles using the highways at night carry lights. The law as drawn up was wise and it should be strictly enforced.

THE LESSON OF THE ELECTION.

A feeling of relief pervades the land. Not merely is it that the stress of a campaign is over, but thousands upon thousands of men and women, who days ago, that Wilson was almost sure to love their country, are profoundly to be elected. The victory, therefore, grateful that an appalling danger has proven to be no great surprise. It means that in every State there were republicans (at some points great masses of them) who voted for Wilson.

appointment to the defeated party, but today there is a host of voters, true and tried republicans, who accept the result with equanimity—indeed with satisfaction. It was apparent several days ago that Wilson was almost sure to love their country, are profoundly to be elected. The victory, therefore, grateful that an appalling danger has proven to be no great surprise. It means that in every State there were republicans (at some points great masses of them) who voted for Wilson.

to make it certain that the ambition of Roosevelt would be defeated.

Let it not be imagined that a vast majority of the American people have endorsed the principles set forth in the democratic platform. They have not. A considerable portion of that majority represent voters who considered it their first duty to put a quietus upon Roosevelt. It is more than ever settled in this country that no man, however gifted in the art of governing, or in the less meritorious art of pleasing the people, shall become President for a third term.

Fortunate, indeed, is it that the majorities for the successful candidate are enormous. It puts upon him and his party the full burden of responsibility. A political party is but a means to an end. It is the glory of our democratic form of government that the losing party accepts without a murmur the verdict of the people. Yesterday we were republicans and democrats. Today we are all Americans. "Republicans are good losers. They feel kindly toward their old time opponents. They do not see it as their duty to fall in with their efforts to give the country a good administration for four years. They simply do not believe the democrats to be on the right track, but they will second all measures that make for the good of our common country."

It is equally fortunate that the democrats are to be in a majority in both houses of Congress. This puts the full measure of responsibility upon the democratic leaders. It is a burden particularly hard to sustain at the present time. We shall see how the pledge for an immediate revision of the tariff is carried out, and note the results.

Republican speakers in the campaign were sincere in their declaration that the election of Wilson meant business depression and panic. Let us hope that somehow they were mistaken. But one view with deep concern the action that shall be taken by the new administration. The party is entitled to a fair trial, and it is unbecoming to wish their failure merely that the republicans may return to office four years hence.

The vote shows that the republican party is still very much alive. What ever be the future of the "new" party, there is no occasion for the old-time republican to feel anxious. Certain leaders have left the party who can be spared. The rank and file who have followed them will return in large numbers when they realize that the protective principle can be enforced only by a great united political party.

All republicans, indeed the whole country, entertain respect and affection for William Howard Taft. He has done, and is continuing to do, his full duty to the American people. It would not be a bad thing, should a vacancy occur upon the bench of the Supreme court of the United States during the term of President Wilson, that he tender the appointment to his predecessor. Surely the talent and the experience of this great statesman ought to be availed of as a return to the bench would be viewed by many as a reward tendered him by a grateful people.

Easy to Ride Down—Pennsylvania Avenue With Wilson.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 6.—Even in the moments when it became apparent that Governor Wilson was going to sweep the country, President Taft did not forget his policy and good humor. There is a story of how the President looked at the situation just about that time, told by a friend today.

"We've got to find some comfort in this," the President is reported to have said. "I'll be very glad to ride down Pennsylvania avenue with Governor Wilson. It wouldn't have been so easy if things had been different, but I would have taken the ride just the same."

The President was up early today. He took breakfast at the home of his brother, and shortly before 10 o'clock started for the Cincinnati Country club to play golf. He had intended to play yesterday, but the weather interfered and with election returns out of the way today's game was arranged.

HE LEFT NO EXPLANATION

Grand Secretary F. S. Phillips of New England Order of Workmen Commit Suicide at Providence

Providence, Nov. 6.—Frederick E. Phillips of Central Falls, R. I., secretary to the second lodge of Rhode Island New England Order of Workmen, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head, at his home today.

At the time he was being awaited at his office in this city by inspectors from the state attorney's office for an examination of his books.

The New England Order of Workmen was organized in 1904 as an offshoot from the A. O. U. W. Phillips had been general secretary since its organization, and handled the funds of the order before turning them over to the treasurer.

The order has about 500 members, most of whom live in Rhode Island.

Phillips was an intimate friend of J. Irving Davis, who was indicted about a month ago for the embezzlement of between $35,000 and $50,000 from the grand lodge of Rhode Island, Ancient Order of United Workmen, of which he was grand secretary.

Investigate Funds Today

Howard A. Fletcher, Wayne H. Whitman and George N. Vidall, examiners from the office of the insurance commissioner, were going over Phillips' books today.

A meeting of the executive committee of the grand lodge will be held tomorrow, when steps will be taken for an investigation of his funds.

At the insurance commissioner's office at the state house today, Attorney S. E. Allison, said that he sent word about three weeks ago to Phillips that he intended to examine the order's books. On the day set for the examination Mr. Allison went to the office of the grand lodge at 395 Westminster street. There he found other officers of the lodge who told him that they had just received word that Phillips had fallen down stairs and had dislocated his shoulder, and consequently would be unable to produce the books. The books were locked in the office safe, and nobody but Mr. Phillips knew the combination.

Wife Heard Shot

Accordingly Mr. Allison notified Phillips that the books would be inspected today, and directed him to a sure and produce them. Mr. Allison with the three examiners went to the grand lodge's office today ready to examine the books. They waited for more than an hour for Phillips. Then they received word that he had shot himself.

Phillips was about his home at 229 Central street, Central Falls, as usual today, and just before 10 o'clock went to a shed in the yard at his home.

Soon afterward his wife who was in the house, heard the report of a revolver shot and went to the shed to investigate. The body of Phillips was stretched out on the floor with the head resting on a bundle of rags which he had evidently prepared for a pillow before lying down.

A hole in the right temple indicated where a bullet had entered the brain, and death seemed to have been instantaneous.

Mrs. Phillips called some of the neighbors who notified the police, and detective Bacon and patrolman Lithgow went to the place after notifying Medical Examiner French. After viewing the body he pronounced it a case of suicide and gave permission for burial.

Once was a Postmaster

Phillips was about 50 years old and for many years was prominently identified with a number of fraternal organizations. He was a past chancellor of Washington Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Central Falls and at the time of his death was supreme representative of the order in this state. He was also the general secretary of the New England Order of Workmen, and was a member of Jenks Lodge of Masons.

He was formerly a prominent figure in political circles, when Central Falls was a part of the town of Lincoln. He was a democrat and was postmaster there during the last term of the late President Cleveland. He served as highway surveyor of the town for two years previous to his appointment as postmaster.

Phillips leaves a widow and a sister, who lives in Woonsocket.

TURKISH ARMY NOW IN LAST DITCHES

Back to Constantinople and All Being Fed--Will Defend City.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The remnants of the Turkish Army have now reached the last ditch in European Turkey. Since they advanced through Thrace three weeks ago confident in their ability to face and drive back the hosts of Bulgarian invaders, the Turks have been chased from position after position until they have reached the final line of defenses before Constantinople, at the Tchatalja forts.

The commissary department of the Turkish Army, to which the blame for the series of frightful defeats can be largely laid, has at last realized that even Turkish soldiers cannot fight on empty stomachs. It is hurrying bread to the works and trenches across the narrow peninsula as the one means left of stemming the stampede and keeping the soldiers in the forts and trenches, thus preventing them from over-running Constantinople.

The Porte obviously has little hope of holding the lines of Tchatalja, for it is still trying to enlist the assistance of the Powers in order to suspend hostilities.

The Turkish Government has even threatened to leave the capital and go to Asia Minor if the war is not stopped. This, however, is considered a bluff to hasten the action of the Powers. The Turkish Ambassador to Great Britain had another long conference with Sir Edward Grey, today, and a more optimistic feeling appears to prevail in diplomatic circles. It is believed the conversations proceeding between the Powers will result in a common basis being reached for mediation.

The speech of Count Von Berchtold, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, encouraged the exception that no insuperable difficulty will be found in reconciling the interests of Austria-Hungary with those of the Balkan States.

No news has reached London for two days in regard to the fighting between the Bulgarian and Turkish Armies in the neighborhood of Tchatalja and Serai. A report from Sofia says the losses there have been heavier than at Lule Burgas.

Confirmation of the stubbornness of the battle comes from Constantinople where the doctors have been told to prepare to receive 22,000 wounded men in addition to the 15,000 already in the city, where the hospital accommodation is scanty and poor. The embassies and every other available building, however, has been placed at the disposal of the Turkish Army.

COMPLEXION OF THE SENATE

On the other side of the peninsula Scutaria continues its resistance. Its garrison has scored some successes in sorties, but today it is reported that the Montenegrin Army has cut off its last communications by taking Alessio and the port of San Giovanni di Medua, through which Scutaria has been obtaining supplies.

The Serbian Army is getting nearer Monastir, where some thousands of Turks are concentrated. The towns in the vicinity are falling one by one. Adrianople is reported to be in a bad way as the main water supply of the city has been cut. Provisions are said to be running short and the soldiers of the garrison are fighting with the civilians for the small amount of food to be obtained.

War vessels belonging to most of the Powers are on their way to Constantinople. Great Britain now has the whole of her Mediterranean battle-ship fleet, together with nine powerful cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boats destroyers either in near Eastern waters or in the vicinity. The third British battleship squadron, comprising of eight battleships and six cruisers with auxiliaries and part of the home fleet, based at Gibraltar, is also proceeding eastward. They are all prepared to land men for the protection of the populations.

VARIOUS TREATMENTS TO BEAUTIFY THE HAIR

When searching for shampoos let your attention wander for a while toward that old and tried one the common or garden variety of fresh eggs, for search as you may, and thread the maze of receipts recommended for every ailment the hair fails to help you until you give up in despair you will find none more satisfactory in results than a good egg shampoo.

Have you ever stopped to consider that the scalp needs nourishment just as the skin of the face or any other part of the body needs to be refreshed and fed? If you know the strength giving qualities of the egg is a food for the body you can easily understand what it will do for the hair. Once you give it a fair trial you will become devoted to it as a never failing remedy and beautifier. In giving the egg shampoo it is best to remove the grime and dust from the scalp and hair with pure castile soap made into liquid form to facilitate its use. Rub this well into the hair and scalp rinsing with warm water until every particle of soap is removed.

The Egg Shampoo

Have ready two large fresh eggs broken into a saucer and broken enough to mix the yolks with the whites. Gently pour the pure egg mixture into the hair separating it carefully into strands and making sure that the eggs distributed over every portion of the scalp. Massage the egg into the scalp with the tips of the fingers and rub it into the hair. Then rinse again with warm water, which will carry the surplus egg away and leave the hair soft and clean.

If the hair has coppery or reddish tints in it these can be accentuated by placing a little lemon in the last rinse. Lemon is another one of nature's best remedies for hair and if persistently used will make it like burnished gold.

Benefits from the Lemon

Select a large juicy lemon; squeeze out the juice and strain it through a cloth to remove all fruit and membrane. After the shampoo when the hair is thoroughly clean, pour this juice into the final rinsing water, which should be cold enough to close the pores of the scalp and prevent the subject from getting cold.

Dry the hair naturally if possible, not rubbing it too vigorously, and as soon as it is dry brush it out with a sterilized brush. Apply the brush firmly giving long vigorous strokes from the scalp to the ends of the hair.

Soon the hair will begin to glisten and take on the shade of satin. All the color and life will come to the surface and the hair will lend itself to almost any treatment. You will be amazed at the magic a single shampoo of this egg and lemon combination will work and the result will abundantly repay the extra time and effort spent in attaining it. Add to this the fact that it can be given at home, is by no means expensive and is certain to be beneficial, and you have the reason for the egg shampoo's return to favor among women whose pride of appearance keeps them always on the quiver for the best in the beauty market.

A Serious Joke on The Rabbit

The U. S. Gov't has been experimenting to discover the poisonous quality of CAFFEINE, found in coffee 57 healthy rabbits were given an average dose of 5 1-10 grains.

---They all Died

See Gov't Bulletin No. 148,
Bureau of Chemistry.

A cup of coffee contains over 2 1-2 grains of Caffeine; enough in two cups to kill a rabbit.

Of course this joke was on the rabbits.

A goodly number of humorous Americans play the same joke on themselves and keep it up until some fixed form of disease sets in, as a result of the daily dose of Caffeine, in quantity enough to kill a rabbit, but only enough to

Cripple a Man

Not at one blow, but by little blows repeated daily.

Of course some systems are strong enough to stand all kinds of abuse, but when a man or woman observes a growing nervousness, or heart trouble, stomach, bowel or eye disturbances, it is time to quit the daily dose of coffee and see if Nature will begin to heal.

It is easy to shift from coffee to Postum. The food beverage has the deep, seal-brown color which turns to a golden-brown when cream is added. The flavour has the crisp tang so winning to the palate and the cup is made instantly by one struck spoonful of the powder,

ENTERTAIN SUPREME OFFICERS

Alpha Council, Royal Arcanum of this city held one of the largest sessions of the year on Wednesday evening then they had as their special guest Past Supreme Regent Hon. Claude H. Bowen of Pawtucket, R. I. and the grand officers of this state.

The occasion was a class initiation of 25, and there was a large turnout on the part of the members about two hundred being present.

The work was performed by the prize degree team, Captain J. H. Harlan degree master and it was one of the finest exhibitions they have ever given and Supreme Regent Bowen stated that it was the finest degree work he had ever seen. There are nineteen members in the degree team their floor work is excellent. They appeared in their new costumes and made a fine appearance.

A banquet followed the work. During the evening D. R. Beckford Jr., Vice Regent of Warren Council gave several solos.

THE BEST THING WE DO

Most of us are accustomed to regard this as the bitterest political campaign since that of 1896 and to regard that as the high water mark in the whole record of political passion, but faithful lovers of their Pickwick know better. It still shows visiting Americans to note how much still survives of the spirit behind the torrents of eulogies, rotten eggs and dead cats that bent about speakers in the hustings in the days of Sam Weller and Mr. Pickwick. A general election in England is still tumultuous and stormy; speakers are still howled down, platforms are stormed, heads are unfurlingly broken, and political meetings frequently turn into riots. Popular interest in English public affairs is still measured by the casualty list after it is all over, the political matter still tends to become a matter of hugs and kisses. In spite of the present war our cousins abroad have found time to watch our presidential contest with curiosity and with wonder at its quietude not at all broken by the attempted assassination that has marked it.

It is something of a racial phenomenon given our more excitable temper, the heat of our party passions and the traditional rashness of the American character, that after all we go about making a new president in such a solemn and orderly fashion. We have every incentive to violence—and are phenomenally tame.

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Portsmouth Citizens

A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back. Often tells you of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Portsmouth testimony. George Byers, 172 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "My kidneys came disordered some years ago and I suffered severely from pains and lameness in my back. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and at night I was obliged to arise several times. I doctored and tried several remedies, but was unable to find relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy. They brought the most satisfactory results. After I had finished the contents of two boxes, my trouble had disappeared."

PORTSMOUTH GAS COMPANY

ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE.

We are fifteen million voters we play the game over a whole diversified continent; we are notoriously given to hysteria, and the changes for conflict are legion. The campaign wages for months and every stimulus to passion is scrupulously employed all the while. All the ingredients for a great national explosion are injected, and in calmness, fairness and good humor we elect a president decently and impressively. No other country can match the spectacle. It is the best thing we do. We ourselves are so occupied with noisy self criticism that we have no time to stand off and admire this remarkable achievement in its true light.

Abroad they know how to appreciate the performance. An English commentator recalls being in this country during the trying times of 1896. The excitement of that election he found greater than the bitterest moments of the Home Rule fight of 26 years ago. The whole country seemed to him one gigantic Ulster. And yet nothing astonished him more than the orderliness with which our political meetings went off. The press stormed and raved, and meant but half it said. When Mr. Bryan the darling of the West invaded New York where he was best hated his generous welcome stood out in vivid contrast with the treatment that would have been accorded to Gladstone with all his honors and all his white hair if he had dared, which he did not to invade Ulster at the height of his battle for Home Rule. The whole truth is that we ninety millions are shot through with the feeling that to elect a President is a mighty serious business. We ought to be proud of the way we do it. There has never been anything like it. The country is certainly not going to the dogs, no matter who is elected, so long as granddads are picked and watched in this spirit.—Portland Argus.

THE MERRY WIDOW

The Queen of Viennese Operetta Offered at the Majestic Theatre Boston

An operetta is a comedy with appropriate, indigenous, musical accompaniment. It is distinguished from musical comedy because the latter is generally a dramatic and musically crazy quilt. Now we know all about it, and therefore we know more than the average author or composer of that race affair, one who is called on the program a librettist.

This may be a vigorous, intolant, position to assume but the announcement that "The Merry Widow," the queen of the Viennese operettas, will be offered by Mr. Henry W. Savage at the Majestic, Boston for a limited engagement of two weeks beginning Monday night puts a lot of musical stiffening in one's spine and causes the reflection that after all the American composer has had his lesson and either won't or is unable to benefit by it, most probably the latter.

When "The Merry Widow" was first produced in this country, the public said, "Amen, let us have more such," and they turned down their thumbs and were stubborn about it, but the American composer since he knew only such things, kept on at his lunge backed by his treasurer, the song publisher and proceeded with the usual operations of shoehorning a ditty into a force comedy where a stage wait might have been. Every day sees him working closer to the day's been's wreath of sour grapes. It is not imbecility, it is helplessness.

So, welcome "The Merry Widow" again. She has done us a world of good. She has driven the professor of the pianoforte back to work. Of course in her train came many so-called Viennese operettas. That was sure to happen. Every regimental band leader in Europe had stuff in his trunk which he unloaded on the American managers. But many good operettas have come, yet one has yet to come from the foreigners which can even Mr. Savage's master piece, "The Merry Widow."

Mr. Savage promises a complete, new, and magnificent production for this season's version of the work. He has always kept faith with his public, it therefore goes without saying that he will not permit this standard of all the light opera standards to diminish in its glorious perfection.

The names in the cast are familiar. It is practically the same company that was seen here last, and they are many of the originals. Mabel Wilber will sing the fascinating role of Sonita, the merriest of all widows. Charles Mackins a Hamiltonia, by the way, will be the Prince Danilo. Oscar Wigman is Baron Penock, and the others of the splendid cast have among them Arthur Woolley, F. J. McCarthy, Olga Heller, Vernon Dahlhart, Walter C. Wilson, Lon Clark, J. D. Miller, Cynthia Perot, Peggy Thompson, Minnie Olton, Kent Elliot, Viola Knapp, Anna Gurin, Shirley Love, Ordina Brenner, Margaret Latham, Betty Stone, Lola Budd and Louise Cook.

Then again, Mr. Savage offers the "Merry Widow" orchestra. This organization is composed of the best soloists of the Savage grand orchestra, is a complete organization in itself and plays the entire score without the aid of a written note. Mr. Alfred Moulton is the conductor. The ladies of the audience will find abundant satisfaction in the new hats and gowns which Mr. Savage has imported from Parisian shops for the new "Merry Widow." There will be worthy successors to the famous hats. Through his agents and his many trips abroad, during the year Mr. Savage is enabled to keep in close touch with the newest creations of the ever varying Parisian taste.

CHILDREN AND COMPANY

What Children Do and Why They Do It and What's to Be Done to Help Them.

It was at the usual informal conclusion of the weekly meeting of the Mothers' club, when the members indulged in confidential exchanges of motherly experiences over their troubles.

The hostess' little boy, ordinarily a good little fellow, who had been brought into the room by his proud mother to speak to the guests, had behaved in a truly reprehensible manner and had been banished summarily, much to the mortification of his parent.

"I know how it is," said a very young mother. "I can feel for Mrs. Place. My baby seems veritably possessed whenever any guests are present. He does things he never dreams of doing when we are by ourselves. He mortifies me intensely."

"Does he really do things that he never thinks of doing when you are by yourselves, or is it because you are so anxious for him to appear at his best that you 'mother' more particularly what he does—see his faults with your visitor's eyes, as it were?" asked an older mother.

"I had a most uncomfortable experience once when Frederic was little," she continued, reminiscently. "I shall never forget it. I was invited to dine with an old schoolmate and friend whom I had not seen for years. She asked, especially, that I bring Frederic, who was then about four years old."

"At dinner he mortified me beyond expression, especially before the pompous-looking butler, who eyed him severely all the time he waited on the table. Frederic upset his milk on the tablecloth. He dropped some food on his clean suit. I did not realize at the time that it was always my custom at home to let him wear a bib apron, and if things got spilled on that it was only a trifling thing, and I had never corrected him for it; but at this formal dinner, with the butler and the others looking on, it was quite a different matter for him to spill food on his clean suit."

"The climax was capped when we finished the dessert, which happened to be ice cream. Some of the melted cream remained in Frederic's saucer, and, to my horror, I saw him lift the saucer to his lips and drain the contents. Of course, I was terribly mortified and reprimanded him sharply, when he turned to me and said in such an innocent, ingenuous tone, 'Why, mummy, I always does it at home.'"

"I do not doubt that he did, and that in my preoccupation about household and other matters I had not noticed or corrected him when he did it, and so the habit was established, unknown to

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

Cascaret Users Never Have Headache, Constipation or Sick Stomach

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh, than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills, or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10 cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, and your liver and bowels regular for months.

Don't force the children, their little intestines need a good, gentle cleansing too.

SULTAN READY TO FLY.

Will Go to Asia Minor if Bulgaria Gets Too Close.

Constantinople, Nov. 6. The council of ministers sat until 11 o'clock tonight discussing the military situation and the question of mediation.

Comprehensive measures have been adopted for the protection of the city and the fear of disorders is decreasing, particularly since the foreign warships have arrived.

It is reported that preparations have been made for the sultan to proceed to Brussel, in Asia Minor, if the Bulgarians capture Tchatalia lines.

A persistent rumor is current that the Turkish commander, Nazim Pasha, is missing and it is feared that he has been killed or made prisoner.

The blockade of the Bulgarian coast will be abandoned, as the ships are needed for the defense of Constantinople.

NAZIM'S FORCES CRUSHED.

Lost Many Killed and Bulgarians Are Pursuing.

Sofia, Nov. 6.—The Turkish army commanded by Nazim Pasha was completely crushed in the great battle of the last two days on the Serai-Tchodor line. According to the semi-official Mr. the Turks lost 11 killed and wounded more than double the losses at Lule Burgas. The Bulgarians are now pursuing the defeated enemy.

MAYOR COMPLAINS TO GOVERNOR BASS

About Board of Police Commissioners Refusing to Recognize Him

Mayor's Office.

November 7, 1912.

Governor Robert P. Bass, Concord, N.H.

Dear Governor Bass—In my official capacity I beg to submit to you some facts relative to the action or attitude of two members of the Board of Police Commissioners of this city toward this office and the people of this city.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Police Commissioners are appointed and are removable by the Governor and Council I cannot believe that they are so far removed from or above the people of this city or its chosen representative or representatives that they can with impunity disregard and hold in contempt any reasonable request made by the Mayor, or any other reputable citizen of the city, for an audience or hearing when the Mayor or citizen deems and so states that the peace and dignity of the city is threatened.

Several days previous to the election of November 5, 1912, persistent and repeated rumors and stories became rife about the city to the effect that large sums of money were being collected and sent into the city to be used for election debauchery.

Believing that an organized attempt to violate the election laws was being concocted and contemplated, together with the fact that on former elections in this city liquor was stored and dispensed on the premises belonging to the city and containing polling places by the apparent permission of the Police Department, which was obnoxious to many citizens, I deemed the exigency required a special session of the Police Commissioners for consideration of the matter and requested the same with the result which I hereby relate:

On Monday, Nov. 4, at 9:30 o'clock A. M. I called the chairman of the Board, Mr. Morris C. Foye, at the telephone and informed him that I would like very much to meet the Board at their office before 11 o'clock for the purpose of discussing matters of grave importance to the city.

Mr. Foye replied that he would confer with his colleague, Mr. Norris, and then notify me, which he did later, saying that Mr. Norris was busy and could not attend. I thereupon informed Mr. Foye that I, as Mayor of the city, officially requested an audience with the Board of Police Commissioners not later than 11 o'clock on that day, on business of grave importance to the city.

Mr. Foye declined to say whether or not the request would be granted. I thereupon called Mr. True L. Norris on the telephone, in regard to the matter, who immediately pleaded that he was unwell and physically unable to go to the Commissioners' Office (although he was then at his place of business, The Times Publishing Co.) I made the same request known to Mr. Norris and further told him that if he was unable to go to the Commissioners' Office I would meet him at his own office or any reasonable place if Mr. Foye would also be present.

Mr. Norris replied that he would consider the matter and then notify me.

Later a communication was transmitted to me from Mr. Norris that the Board of Police Commissioners would meet at their office at 4 o'clock P. M.

The democratic friends of Hon. Calvin Page throughout this section are proposing his name as candidate for U. S. Senator. There are likely to be a number of candidates before the legislature convenes.

ONLY THREE DAYS MORE.

This will be the last week in this city of Madame Zola, the celebrated palmist. Those who have not yet consulted her should do so at once if they wish to take advantage of her wonderful gift of palmistry. Madame Zola's address is 17 Liberty street. n 6, 3t in regular session.

This was too late to transact the business contemplated and I therefore immediately handed to the City Marshal, and gave to the press for publication, the directions and order, a copy of which I enclose herewith.

I also enclose, for your consideration, a clipping of the order and the comments thereon which appeared in the November 4th issue of the Portsmouth Times. Mr. Norris is the editor and publisher of the Times and the undoubted result of this comment by a member of the Police Commission nullified the intended restraining effect on law breaking.

The City Marshal virtually informed me that he regarded the order as received as ineffectual and as a matter of fact the directions were not carried out on election day.

I pray that your careful and thoughtful consideration be given this matter and trust that after investigation you will agree with me that the conception of the duties incumbent upon the Police Commissioners of this city which Mr. Foye and Mr. Norris apparently entertain is such as to make these gentlemen unsuitable for the position which they are occupying and that their resignations or removal from office will be speedily requested.

Very truly yours,

DANIEL W. BADGER, Mayor.

his men at his home on Islington street and told him what was wanted. The fellow asked if he could change his clothing and the officer granted him the privilege to stop in to another room to do so. Instead of changing his clothes he took the opportunity to escape. This morning he came to the police station and gave himself up.

DOG KILLED

A small Boston terrier owned by Everett M. Fisher, of State street, was run over and killed by a team, at the junction of Penhallow and Daniel streets this morning. Mr. Fisher was on his way to his work and had only released the dog a few minutes previous to the accident.

"A Nation's Peril"

Two reel feature picture by the American Company. The strongest, most sensational, most thrilling picture ever produced. A gripping story of patriotism, love and intrigue, carried on before Uncle Sam's very eyes in one of the United States Artillery Forts showing the submarine mine chart room from which a battleship's tender bearing the spies of another nation, is blown to atoms. The mine explosion alone, hurling thousands of tons of water into a column ninety feet high and carrying the fragments of the shattered vessel makes this picture surpass all others. Don't miss it.
